I know I can do this through the registry like this: REG DELETE "HKLM\SOFTWARE\Wow6432Node\MyGitHubAccounts\MY_INSTANCE_ID\VisualStudio\SharedProjects\scripts\Scripts\Version" But I'm not sure how to replicate this in PowerShell. Is there an easy way to read the path of the "Version" folder and remove it? A: You can use -LiteralPath parameter of Remove-Item command to use the path of folder instead of Get-Item... For example the folder you mentioned in question is located under C:\Users\adam0405\Desktop\PowerShell_Projects\MyGitHubAccounts\MY_INSTANCE_ID\VisualStudio\SharedProjects\scripts\Scripts\Version. If you navigate to this folder by file explorer, you can see it is located under scripts\Version as well. So use the -LiteralPath parameter of Remove-Item to reference to the folder "scripts\Version" itself by the path "C:\Users\adam0405\Desktop\PowerShell_Project 570a42141b
