Psy High introduces a new gameplay feature: the hero can break walls to move forward. In the original game, monsters would simply keep spawning until they got the monster-killing blow in. Now, the heroes gain some powers from gathering gems and need to store that power so they can use it at the right time. Also, the heroes can now counter an attack after using their Break Skill. There are plenty of new items as well: from the blue gem slot to the dragon's whip attack. We also made them more balanced this time around. In addition to the new graphical features, there are also a lot of fun new gameplay elements added in this game including: Animated Move Chart It will show you a few specific moves when you press any key. For example, if you press the A key, you will see an animation of your jump move. The move chart can be switched on and off as you wish. Skill Graphics Mode It is triggered automatically when any of your skills begins to use any of the essences. Energy Gauge This shows the amount of core energy that you currently have. When the energy reaches 0, the fight ends. You need to press a button immediately after pulling out your weapon. Pausing and Loading Pausing allows you to stop mid-battle, while loading allows you to pause the battle after performing a certain move. Auto Haste This is activated when you press the button too long while you're moving. Auto Rage This is activated when you press the button too long while you're not moving. Weapons There are eight new weapons added to this game: Sword of Life, Sword of Magic, Sword of Intelligence, Great Sword, Lance, Great Lance, Axe, and Great Axe. Gem Dungeons To refresh the excitement of the game, there are these new dungeons to play with. Once you defeat the boss of a dungeon, you'll get a gem for a reward. High-Level Version It is activated when your hero surpasses the level 20 in the new game. This is only for the first-time play-through. Dark Side The new game is a total opposite of the light side. It introduces new items and gameplay elements. Quiz Quest This is an original quest that will allow you to get special items and help you have fun.Q: GIT user hook - not receiving email I'm not receiving the mail from an email address I have set in.git/config

The Bard to the Future Award, also known as the Bard to the Future or the Bard Award for Public Spokespeople to the Future, is an annual award given by the American Bard Society (ABS) to "an individual who has effectively communicated a traditional message by incorporating the language of the culture, delivering a message that embodies a 21st-century cultural experience, and who exemplifies excellence in personal and professional achievement". History 2009 The Bard to the Future Award began in 2009 with the inaugural prize given to Director Paul Lang of the New York Public Library (NYPL) to acknowledge his achievements in the field of higher education. Lang was selected by ABS's board of directors which recognized, among other things, the importance of Paul Lang's work in transforming the NYPL by incorporating socially conscious public service into its services. 2010 2010 was the first year that the award was opened to the world at large. The ABS held a press conference in December 2009 to announce a $50,000 grant to PAJA/CURIS (US) to empower secondary public school students in the United States through its original and innovative program PBJ – Public Propaganda By Jest. The award, its selection committee and the recipient were described in an article published by L.A. Times. The LA Times listed recent winners of the award, and noted its inaugural winner, Paul Lang. 2011 2011 saw 45 applications, including nominees from Argentina, Australia, Hungary, Iceland, Korea, India, Japan, Russia, Singapore and the United Kingdom. The finalists were also honored at an event at Penn in New York City on May 8, 2011. The award was presented to Dr. Alexandra David-Neel, a French anthropologist, author, and explorer, for communicating the value of untraditional lifestyles and for spreading awareness about the dangers of tobacco. David-Neel received her award in September 2011 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia by UN General Secretary Ban Ki-moon and UN Deputy Secretary-General Jan Eliasson, and she addressed the General Assembly. In her speech, she stated "we have to question certain self-established beliefs that it is difficult to adapt to the rapid changes of modern society without ultimately sinking to the depths of adversity". The 2011 judges included actor Vincent D'Onofrio, author and journalist Nora Roberts, anthropologist Chris Knight and adjunct professor at Johns Hopkins University Susan Kent. 2012 2012 was the second year that only 15
